Dec 21, 2010 Installing files East Asian Languages When I inserted my Microsoft Office XP Professional disk in my computer to install the files for East Asian languages, my computer still said I needed to insert the disk.. reg from the Time Zones folder This appendix describes how to install East Asian Language Support Files for Windows XP.. (And you don't really need quotes around the numbers) If you are installing new machines, include the LanguageGroup in your regional settings of params.. But it seems to work correctly when I'm surfing on korean site How can I test this?I'm a little bit confused.. Thanks in advance Jgl75 Hi, some more on this You will only need to include Language Group 7, this will automatically pull all other EastAsian Languages as well. Skin Pack For Macos High Sierra

I can't seem to find a way to install the files without the disk, despite searching Microsoft's support website.. I had previously tried to capture the changes with AdminStudio and it didn't work very well.. Then after around 10~15 sec Of installation, it tells me to restart my PC, so I restart it, no problem at all, everything goes very smoothly HOWEVER after I restart my PC, log in back, samething again, I go to control panel, click on Regional and Language options, then Languages, then I click on Details, under Settings, I click on Add. Google Cast Extension Download Mac

I am currently running on English version windows XP, trying to display chinese I went through several websites of the installation (god I even youtube it) currect me if I am doing anything wrong: 1.. I go to control panel, 2 Click on Regional and Language options, 3 Then Languages, then I click on that box ' install files for East Asian languages' 4.. One window pop up wher under Input language, there are no choice of Chinese, not even Japanese or Korean, the list is same as before.. A messge pop up saying something about I need 230mb of diskspace, which is no problem, I pop my Windows XP authentic disk in, there u go, it starts to install.. Yes the 'install files for East Asian languages' box is now checked So I did install, its just not there!ORIGINAL: jgl75 Thank you for your fast response! I tried your solution but I dont see in the regional settings that the files are installed.. I then tried to install manually, and it works, but the problem is it asks for the locations of some files while installing.. txt When you checked, did you reboot between installation and checking? I've been trying to deploy East Asian language support as well - thanks for the information in this thread, it's been very helpful. 0041d406d9 Tramper Driver For Mac
